LEARNING UNLIMITED (OXFORD)

owes its existence to the late Eva Latham, a brilliant and inspirational leader, through whose vision and will, the organization came into being. She was the founder and the driving force which made it possible for seniors of Woodstock and area to come together with a common cause. She and they believed that "using the mind preserves it" and that older people need educational stimulation if they are to stay alive in the community. That belief is still very much alive today.

The total program has been designed to stimulate interest in a wide variety of topics, increase knowledge, and develop seniors' sense of self-worth, confidence and dignity.
